

In the beginning there was the Light. Within the vast night sky, there appeared a star of piercing brightness – a point of light illuminating the soul.

